

At Barnyard Organics, we want to help make the world a better place through our decisions and actions. That's why we make high quality, Certified Organic feeds for your animals. The majority of our organic whole grains are actually grown here at our farm, Barnyard Organics, in Freetown, PEI. The corn and flax are the only ingredients that elude us as yet, but in the meantime we're able to source from other great Canadian suppliers. Once our premium grains are harvested from our fields, cleaned, and dried, they're ready to be mixed and milled onsite at our farm as well. We carefully mix the wholesome ingredients into a tasty and nutritious feed that is not over-processed into pellets or crumbles. Our poultry line of feed is good for chickens and ducks.
